The newly issued shares will entitle their holders to any exemption or result in the imposition of any tax charges, after payment to the old shares of the dividend for the financial year ended December 31, 2007. The newly issued shares will be immediately negotiable within the legal timeframes.

5.2 Value of the contribution premium

The difference between the net value of the goods and rights contributed by the Contributing Company, i.e., €114,094,600, and the par value of the shares to be issued under the aforementioned capital increase, i.e., €11,409,460, will constitute a contribution premium of €102,685,140, to be recorded as a liability on the Beneficiary Company's balance sheet in favor of existing and future shareholders.

The contribution premium may receive any allocation in accordance with the current principles approved by the General Shareholders' Meeting. By express agreement, it will be proposed that the General Shareholders' Meeting of the Beneficiary Company called to approve the contribution plan, authorize the company's Board of Directors to undertake any withdrawal from the contribution premium, specifically with a view (i) to replenish, in the Beneficiary Company's liabilities, the regulated reserves and provisions posted to the balance sheet of the Contributing Company at December 31, 2007 (i.e., €45,689,344.94), (ii) to allocate to the contribution premium all expenses, fees and taxes incurred or due as part of the contribution, (iii) to withdraw from such contribution premium the amounts needed to fully replenish the legal reserve.

The Beneficiary Company shall benefit from any subsidies, premiums, aid, etc. that may have been or may be granted to the Contributing Company and that relate to the Business Line.

The Beneficiary Company shall generally be subrogated purely and simply in all the various rights, actions, obligations and commitments relating to the assets that are the subject of this contribution.

In this regard, the Beneficiary Company shall specifically and, in compliance with the provisions of article L. 236-20 of the French Commercial Code, be debtor to the Contributing Company's creditors, instead of and in lieu of the Contributing Company, and the subrogation shall involve no novation or substitution with regard to those creditors.

The Parties expressly agree to discard any joint and several liability between them under article L. 236-21 of the French Commercial Code.

The Contributing Company's and the Beneficiary Company's creditors whose receivables pre-date the disclosure of the contribution plan may oppose it within thirty (30) days from the latest disclosure of said plan.

Under current law and regulations, opposition brought by a creditor shall not have the effect of preventing the pursuit of the contribution transactions.

6.2 Takeover of the operation of the Business Line by the Beneficiary Company

As from the Completion Date, the Beneficiary Company shall operate the Business Line as an informed and responsible industrialist in compliance with the laws, regulations and administrative rules in effect, and with all the rights and obligations attached to the contributed contracts. To that end, the Beneficiary Company, with the support of the Contributing Company, if applicable, shall take possession of the following:

- (i) The deeds, documents and information proving ownership by the Contributing Company of the assets comprising the Business Line, subject of this contribution;
- (ii) Administrative permits and other official documents authorizing the operation of the Business Line;
- (iii) Documents, specifically any guides, user manuals, technical reports, required for the operation of the Business Line, and ownership titles, plans and all documents related thereto;
- (iv) All accounting data related to the Business Line (inventories, books, all general, ancillary, and cost accounting, separate financial statements, etc.)

At the request of either of the Parties, within six (6) months of the Completion Date, the Parties shall prepare a joint record of the principal documents either produced or of which the Beneficiary Company acknowledges being aware.

Failing that, and at the end of the six (6) months, the Beneficiary Company shall be deemed to have taken possession of all the items and documents that the Contributing Company is required to produce to the Beneficiary Company or bring to its knowledge under this agreement.

6.3 No recourse

The Beneficiary Company shall take over the assets, rights and obligations constituting the Business Line in the condition in which they are found on the Completion Date, without the right to thereby take any recourse against the Contributing Company or claim any indemnification whatsoever for any reason whatsoever, against the Contributing Company, specifically, for construction defects, building deterioration, joint use or common ownership, poor condition of the ground or subsoil, for wear or poor condition of equipment and furnishings, errors in the designation or contents, regardless of the difference, insolvency of debtors or any other cause.

The Beneficiary Company shall also be responsible, instead of and in lieu of the Contributing Company, without recourse against the Contributing Company for any reason whatsoever, for performing or canceling, at its own expense, risk and peril, any agreements, conventions, contracts or commitments that may have been entered into by the Contributing Company concerning the Business Line.

This contribution being the responsibility of the Beneficiary Company and, as provided in this Agreement, such responsibility involving the payment of the liabilities of the Contributing Company, the Contributing Company represents that it expressly waives seller's privilege and the right to file action in avoidance. Consequently, the requirement to record seller's privilege for the buildings in favor of the Contributing Company is waived.

6.4 Managing the Business Line until the Completion Date

The Contributing Company shall manage the Business Line as a prudent and informed industrialist. Without prejudice to the foregoing, until the definitive completion of the contribution, except with the approval of the Beneficiary Company, which may not refuse it without just cause, the Contributing Company is strictly prohibited from disposing of the transferred assets in any way and from signing any agreement, contract or commitment whatsoever, deriving from the current management of the Business Line.

6.5 Procedures and formalities

The Beneficiary Company shall accomplish all formalities that may be necessary in order to effect the transfer to it of the assets and rights included in this contribution, and to make said contribution enforceable against third parties.

As from the Completion Date, the representatives of the Contributing Company shall, upon first request and at the expense of the Beneficiary Company, provide the Beneficiary Company with any support, signatures and proof that may be necessary to transfer the assets included in this contribution, and to accomplish all necessary formalities.

6.6 Charges, taxes, fees, insurance

6.6.1 The Beneficiary Company shall definitively pay all taxes, insurance premiums, contributions, rent, etc, and any ordinary or extraordinary charges whatsoever that encumber or may encumber the contributed assets or that are inherent to their ownership or operation, as from the Effective Date, except for the tax on profits due from the Contributing Company for financial periods prior to the Effective Date and except for the VAT tax due for the month ending on the Completion Date.

Without prejudice to the preceding, and any clause to the contrary notwithstanding, the Parties expressly agree that the Contributing Company alone shall be responsible for the capital gains tax on the contribution of the Business Line, if and when such tax should become payable.

6.6.2 This contribution for valuable consideration appertains to the transfer of a universality of assets within the meaning of Article 257 bis in the General Tax Code and of the Administrative Guidelines 3 A-6-06 of March 20, 2006.

In that sense, the Beneficiary Company shall be deemed as continuing the person of the Contributing Company notably by virtue of the adjustments set forth in articles 210 and 215 of Appendix II to the General Tax Code that would have been required if the Contributing Company had continued to operate the Business Line.

Note that, the Contributing Company and the Beneficiary Company are required to indicate the total before tax amount of the transfer on the VAT declaration form filed for the period during which the transfer takes place. The amount must be indicated under "Other non-taxable transactions".

6.6.3 The Contributing Company shall make the Beneficiary Company the beneficiary of the Contributing Company's group insurance policies covering the Business Line and the contributed assets, under the conditions in the Contributing Company's insurance policy on the Completion Date. If it is not possible to take out a group insurance policy for the Contributing Company, the Beneficiary Company shall be responsible for taking out a new insurance policy concerning the Business Line and the contributed assets to be effective on or before the Completion Date, and the Contributing Company shall be responsible for the cancellation or modification, as applicable, of the current insurance policies covering this contribution, on or before the Completion Date.

6.7 Conditions relating to transferred personnel

6.7.1 Employment contracts

The Beneficiary Company shall take over the rights and obligations deriving from the employment contracts to which the Contributing Company is party, concerning the Contributing Company's Business Line personnel.

Under Article L. 1224-1 of the Labor Code, the Beneficiary Company shall purely and simply replace the Contributing Company by the mere fact of making the present contribution, in the benefits and responsibility for the stipulations in the employment contracts of transferred employees.

Employees whose employment contracts are suspended (specifically, for long-term illness, leave of absence to open a new business, leave without pay, time-savings account leave, parental leave, education leave, occupational retraining for a new job, incarceration, terminal leave) who benefit from the right to return to work and who, on the date of suspension, were employed in the Business Line, shall have the right to return to work with the Beneficiary Company.

6.7.2 Collective rights

The National Act on Personnel in the Gas and Electric Industries, extended acts implementing it (extended PERS circulars), and business line agreements shall, as from the Completion Date be applicable to all the Beneficiary Company's personnel.

Pursuant to Article 2261-14 of the Labor Code, application of company's collective labor agreements shall be implemented by the fact of the contribution of the Business Line. Said agreements shall continue in effect until the effective date of new agreements that shall substitute for them, or failing that, until the end of a period of fifteen (15) months from the Completion Date.

A list of the applicable business line and company agreements is provided in Appendix 18.

The rights and obligations resulting from unilateral commitments (unextended PERS circulars, usage, Notes N and DP) applicable to transferred Business Line employees shall be transferred to the Beneficiary Company under this Agreement. As from the signing of this Agreement, the Contributing Company shall grant the Beneficiary Company the right to access information relating to the unilateral commitments during the life of their application.

6.7.3 Bonus shares

Transferred employees shall retain their right to receive bonus shares under the bonus share allocation plans of June 20, 2007 and May 28, 2008 under the conditions and with the reservations indicated in those plans.

6.8 Working capital requirements -- Contribution and payment rules

In view of the contribution of working capital requirements under Article 3.1 above, the Parties agree to apply the following principle: The Contributing Company's inventories, accounts receivable and payable recorded in the individual company financial statements of the Business Line shall be fully contributed to the Beneficiary Company, subject to the exclusions stipulated in Article 6.8.2 below.

6.8.1 Current assets

All inventories and accounts receivable for the Business Line, recorded in the individual company financial statements of the Contributing Company, shall be contributed by fully integrating the gross amounts and any provisions booked in relation thereto. The contribution shall be made in the same way for the Contributing Company's accruals.

Considering the principle stated above, no internal pending items (invoices to be issued, etc.) for the period prior to the Effective Date and relating to an internal item shall be included in the current assets items indicated in article 3.1 above.

6.8.2 Current liabilities

All liabilities recorded in the individual company financial statements of the Contributing Company corresponding to the Business Line shall be contributed, as well as the VAT accounts related thereto. The contribution shall be made in the same way for accruals.

Considering the principle stated above, no internal pending items (invoices to be issued, etc.) for the period prior to the Completion Date and relating to an internal item shall be included in the items under current liabilities indicated in Article 3.1 above.

The VAT liability for the Business Line due for the month ending on the Completion Date, and the liability for taxes on profits due from the Contributing Company for the periods prior to the Effective Date are expressly excluded.

6.8.3 Reassignments and reimbursements

The Contributing Company shall reassign to the Beneficiary Company the amounts it takes in for the Business Line as from the Completion Date regardless of whether the receivable concerned pre- or post-dates the Completion Date.

The Beneficiary Company shall reimburse the Contributing Company for the payments the Contributing Company makes Business Line as from the Completion Date regardless of whether the liability concerned pre- or post-dates the Completion Date.

The Contributing Company shall reimburse the Beneficiary Company for the payments the Beneficiary Company makes as from the Performance Date for the liabilities of the Contributing Company not related to the Business Line, regardless of whether the liability concerned pre- or post-dates the Completion Date.

6.9 Cash and bank accounts

Bank account and account balances at the Completion Date as indicated in Appendix 16 shall be contributed to the Beneficiary Company under the terms and conditions agreed upon between the Contributing Company, the Beneficiary Company and the banks concerned.

Within forty-five (45) days of the Completion Date, an original of this Agreement shall be filed with a notary-attorney selected by mutual agreement of the Parties, with acknowledgment of signatures, so that the present Agreement acquires all the effects of an authentic legal instrument, to be deemed duly prepared in notarial form. The notary-attorney shall establish the origins of ownership of the real estate contributed and shall make a broader description thereof. For that purpose, the Parties shall give powers to the notary to:

7.2.4 Housing occupied by Business Line personnel

The list of housing owned by the Contributing Company or rented by the Contributing Company from third parties, occupied by employees of the Contributing Company, whose employment contract will be transferred to the Beneficiary Company under this agreement, is provided in Appendix 19.

On or before the Completion Date, the Contributing Company and the Beneficiary Company together shall enter into the agreements necessary to allow the employees concerned to continue to occupy their housing as renters under the same terms. Therefore, the Contributing Company agrees to:

- Keep the securities received in consideration for the contribution for a period of three (3) years.
- Subsequently, calculate the capital gains on the disposal of such securities by reference to the value of the contributed assets for tax purposes in its own books.

On its part, the Beneficiary Company agrees to:

- Record the current assets on its balance sheet at their tax value in the Contributing Company's books.

8.2 Registration fees

For the purpose of registration fees, and since the Contributing Company and the Beneficiary Company are both French companies subject to the corporate tax, this transaction is governed by the tax regulations defined in Article 817 I of the General Tax Code and will therefore give rise to the payment of a fixed fee of €500.

8.3 Value added tax

Insofar as necessary, the Parties acknowledge that the transaction covered by this instrument shall be deemed non-existent for the application of the provisions of articles 261-3-1° and 257-7° of the General Tax Code.

In application of Tax Instruction 3 A-6-90 of February 22, 1990, the Contributing Company agrees to subject to VAT the subsequent disposals of capital equipment assets transferred under this instrument and to proceed, if applicable, to make the adjustments stipulated in Articles 210 and 215 of Appendix II to the General Tax Code, that would have been payable if the Contributing Company had continued using those assets.

8.4 Construction tax

With regard to the application of the provisions of Article 235 bis of the General Tax Code and Article 163 of Appendix II to the General Tax Code, the Beneficiary Company agrees to assume the obligation to invest that is incumbent on the Contributing Company for the salaries paid thereby for the twelve months of the year preceding the year of the contribution insofar as the obligation has not been fulfilled.
